Angel Flight Rolls Out The Barrel

Lois Prazan, Brenda Williams and Nancy Stevenson (from left) are three angels who helped to get the barrels rolling last week in the annual Toys for Tots drive. Angels' Flight honorary collects old toys on campus to be given to the Marine Corps who repair and distribute them to underprivileged children.

The drive will climax on December 2, with the Toys for Tots dance in the Student Center Ballroom from 9 p.m. to midnight. Admission will be one toy per couple.

General chairman for the dance is Lois Prazan. Other committee chairmen are Nancy Stevenson and Mary McMullen, barrels co-chairmen; Hilde Walters, banners; Nancy Ahlstrand and Dee Hurlburt, posters; Jan Voelte, decorations; Joyce Kavan, door; Brenda Williams, windows; Kitty Murphy and Mary Ann Over, invitations, and Diann Peterson, combo.

Others include Rene Steimle and Jonell Dunn, Angelaires; Judy Wilson and Diane Berry, publicity, and Toni Matson, clean-up.

Definite Red China Conflict Is Final World Affairs Talk

By Clarence Wilson

The 21st annual Institute of World Affairs ended last Thursday on an ominous note.

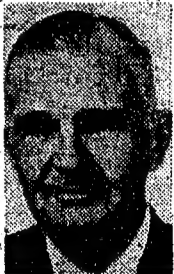

Dr. Hillis Lory, former member of the State Department, seemed to be a "forecaster of doom" as he discussed "Red China—New World Power in Old Asia," before a full house in the OU auditorium.

Previous lecturers of this year's World Affairs Institute presented optimistic views of problems in Asia, Africa and Europe; while Dr. Lory presented a "war is inevitable" view—inevitable war with the Chinese communists.

Dr. Lory seemed to think that the U.S. "could not bear the burden with a war with China."

"The logistics of such a war would be against the U. S., even

Complaints Get Action

The Parking Committee is unhappy with the present system of enforcing the payment of parking tickets and a change seems imminent.

The change will probably be announced as soon as the new parking lot is finished; which should be within the next two weeks.

Under the present class denial system, the professors have been burdened with handing out class denial slips. This is the reason for the unpopularity with the faculty of this system.

Dean Pfisterer, who is a member of the parking committee frankly admits that the system is not working as efficiently as it should and that it is as unpopular with the students as it is with the professors.

The Dean hastened to add that the new system will not mean a relaxing in the enforcement of parking tickets payments, but only a change in the method.

History Department Makes Return Move

The history department has been on the move this semester. The history department last Wednesday moved in its entirety into newly completed offices in the new addition of the Administration Building. The department had previously occupied offices in the new wing of the Engineering Building.

Also moving into the two floors of office space were the psychology department, in its entirety, and the department of business administration. Members of the departments of biology, philosophy, men's physical education, speech, education and home economics also now occupy offices there.

Dean Kirk Naylor stated the move was "virtually complete, with very few exceptions." He added that everyone was "very cooperative and seems well pleased." There were few delays, mostly due to time conflicts with the moving date.

OU To Conduct Own College Bowl Here; 'Anyone Can Enter'

Applications for an OU College Bowl will be available next Wednesday at the Student Center information desk.

The OU College Bowl will be conducted on a campus intramural basis and is not to be confused with the varsity G-E College Bowl.

Any organization or individual may enter a team of four and two alternates. The questions will cover ordinary subjects plus past and current OU, local and state history. The main emphasis is on quick recall.

Several teams will start off with the winners playing winners until one champion team remains. Trophies will be presented to winning organizations or individuals.

Gordon Krogh of the Student Center Special Events committee is in charge of applications.

A. Stanley Trickett, chairman of the history department, also made favorable comments about the move. He declared he was "very happy with the increase in space." He feels the better points are the one-man offices that afford greater privacy. His only complaint is there are two two-man offices.

Dr. Paul Beck, history professor, commended the department's return to the Ad Building. "It is closer to what we consider the center of activity," commented Dr. Beck. The History department had moved to Eng Building in 1964.

Dr. Harl Dalstrom, history instructor, also feels it is "great getting back" to the Ad Building. According to Dalstrom, the liberal arts are in the Ad Building, and that's where the history department belongs.

One complaint shared by both Dalstrom and Beck is the lack of windows. Modern architecture being what it is, there is only one window in the section occupied by the department.

Another innovation for both the history and psychology departments is a secretary who works one half of each day for each department.

Coed of the Week

It's A Rocky Road

The road to becoming a teacher is a rocky one — figuratively. And Coed of the Week Sheri Gilligan pauses to perch prettily on one — literally. The 21-year-old senior is an English major and is currently student teaching English at North High. Our Coed is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority, Angel Flight, English Club and is a past Secretary and Treasurer of Young Democrats.

Homecoming 66-The Return Of The Alums

"It was the largest Homecoming crowd I've ever seen, even though it was cold weather," smiled Warren Wittekind, head of the Omaha University Alumni Association.

He was reflecting on the 300 alums who returned to the west Dodge campus for the Homecoming football game against Ft. Hays State and the Saturday night dinner dance.

The 1966 Homecoming festivities included giving free seat cushions, hats and scarves to all alumni attending the game.

Tickets for the dinner dance at the Prom Town House gave the purchaser a chance to win one or more of the 82 free prizes offered by the Alumni Association.

Faculty member Ernie Gorr, instructor of physical education, won the top prize of a week-end trip for two to the Mountain Shadows Resort in Scottsdale, Arizona.

Paul Bashus won the second prize of a week-end in Denver.

Transportation for the winners will be furnished by Frontier Airlines.

Seven alums will be driving new Chevrolets as a result of the drawings.

OU Purchasing Agent Jim Ochsner will be able to pick up a new Camaro or Chevrolet to use for a full week at his convenience.

Master-of-ceremonies for the dinner dance was 1949 graduate Harold Poff, now vice-president of an Omaha advertising firm.

Hats, scarves and cushions are still available, Wittekind pointed out, and organizations wanting them are advised to contact the Alumni office.

The GATEWAY is published weekly by students of the Omaha University Department of Journalism. Editorial comment and signed letters to the editor are not necessarily represent opinions of the faculty, administration or student body.

Editorially Speaking

If They Have To Pay For It, Give Them What They Want!

Taste is natural to all mankind, but every person does not possess it to the same degree.

What pleases the greatest number does not necessarily—often does not—represent “good” taste.

A point of contention has been raised over last Friday's editorial regarding the recent Fine Arts Festival. It was suggested that if a fine, cultural program such as the Festival isn't worth ten thousand dollars, then, perhaps, programs of the Chad 'n' Jeremy ilk aren't worth the prices they command.

Culture be damned — it's a case of give the people what they want.

The students picked up the tab for both events. The attendance at the Festival programs was pathetic; the Fieldhouse was packed for Chad 'n' Jeremy.

Nonstudents paid a dollar to watch Chad 'n' Jeremy which was, as it should be. Only the students paid for the Festival (via the Student Activity Fund) which wasn't as it should be.

The fine arts are fine, but let those who are interested pay their share.

World Affairs Lectures End On 'Ominous' Note

with our nuclear power. The Red Chinese could withstand a nuclear war more than any other nation, due to the versification of their industry and their millions of people.”

“The U. S. should start to prepare for war in a diplomatic way. The U. S. bears too much of the burden of the Vietnamese struggle when the Asian countries have as much at stake in Viet Nam as the U. S.”

Dr. Lory advocated a “diplomatic offensive” and a re-examination of the SEATO alliance, particularly as far as Japan is concerned.

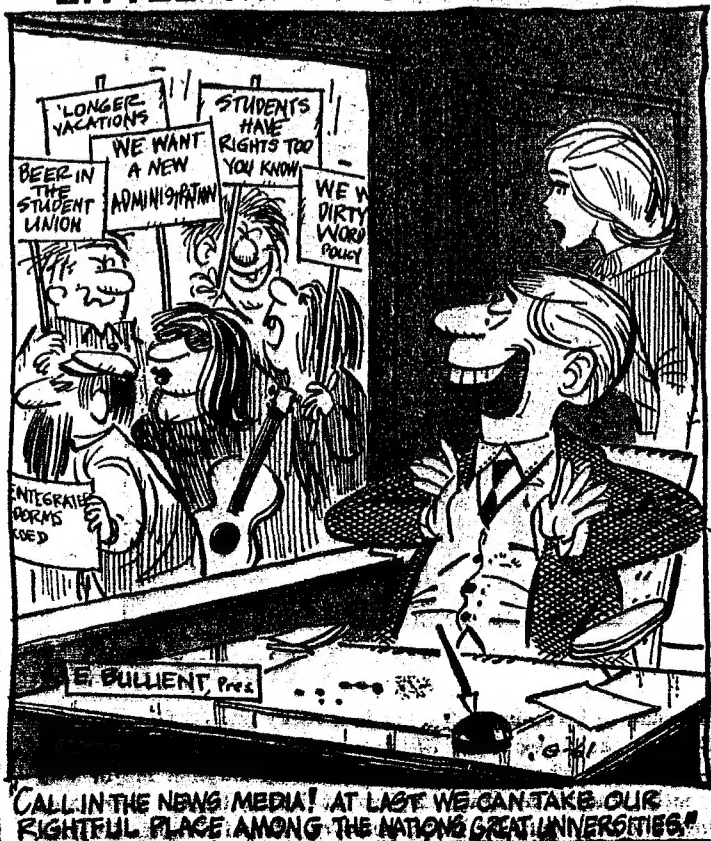

“Japan is the strongest industrial nation in Asia and it should be strong militarily. We allow West Germany to have military might, why not also Japan?”

Will Red China enter the Vietnamese war?

Dr. Lory answered this optimistically, he doesn't think Red China will.

“We (the U. S.) have stated that Chinese territory will not be a sanctuary as it was during the Korean War, and China's entry would give us the opportunity to destroy China's nuclear facilities.

Meters Are Idle

An “I'd rather walk than pay” element was evident Monday morning as the new athletic field area parking lot opened. The lot filled up quickly as did the Elmwood pool lot and the park itself.

At 9:30 Monday morning — normally peak time in the race for a parking space — two full rows of metered stalls were virtually empty.

Ak-Sar-Ben Back

A luncheon will be held at noon on Dec. 1 in honor of the governors and counselors of Ak-Sar-Ben and the sixty-four holders of Ak-Sar-Ben scholarships.

This will be the sixth annual luncheon. This event makes it possible for the recipients of these scholarships to meet and to thank some of the men that make available the $12,800 needed to finance the Ak-Sar-Ben scholarships.

Sticky Wicket For Trickett

The history department is faced with the problem of expansion.

Dr. A. Stanley Trickett, professor and chairman of this department, says it's a pleasant problem, but it is a problem.

“It is nothing that ten more men and a million dollars couldn't solve,” he said.

Letters To The Editor

Who Wants The Gateway?

Dear Editor,

Last week the question was proposed whether O. U. students could afford the ten-thousand dollar Fine Arts Festival. As two senior students who found the time, effort, and money well spent, we question whether University students can afford the Gateway expense of 11,750 dollars per year—or want to.

Terri Pospichal
Judi Zerbe

Praise, Don't Criticize

Dear Editor,

I was incensed over the critical attitude the Gateway took on the recent Fine Arts Festival.

Instead of criticism, a word of praise should be in order for those who worked hard to bring about this fine program. I am sure all of the students who took the opportunity to attend the festival came away richer.

The criticism should be directed at the large number of students who were so apathetic that they wouldn't find time to be entertained by some of the greatest artists of our time.

If the majority of the students at Omaha University dictated how Student Activity Fund money was to be spent, this school would be culturally sterile.

Lonna Haynes

Gateway Support Appreciated

Dear Editor,

Now that the 21st. annual lecture series is a part of the past, I want to thank you and your staff not only for the excellent advance coverage given the speakers, but the follow-up stories as well, and in particular for the editorial support.

Education, the truly enlightened and informed person, is far more than a classroom exercise. The total resources of the University must be given to it so that the student is immersed (marinated, if you will) in the environment, not just putting in a finger or toe.

The student paper can do much in helping create this environment, and you and your staff — deliberately or otherwise — grasped this opportunity and have made a significant contribution.

Your treatment of the World Affairs series is but a part — yet still “a part” of this, and you have my thanks.

Please convey this expression of appreciation to those of your staff who “had a hand” in it — and do what you can to pass along the larger goal.

Dean William T. Utley

More Scholarships

Dear Editor,

Upon first reading of Judy Bradley's article on scholarships and loans it seems quite comprehensive listing the many scholarships. However, there was mention of only one alumni scholarship, the Peter Kiewit-Alumni Engineering one.

Mr. Kiewit contributed the first $6,000 of this scholarship and other alumni have given another $6,000 to make it self-sustaining.

Besides the Kiewit-Alumni Scholarship, the Alumni Association each year pays for the Wilfred Payne Liberal Arts Scholarship ($300 a year); the Glenn L. Martin Scholarship ($200 a year); the Daniel E. Jenkins Honor Scholarship ($300 a year); the Pen & Sword-Bootstrap Scholarship ($500-600 a year) and the Sallquist Family Scholarship ($400 a year).

In addition, there are eight $150 a year scholarships given to high school seniors, a total of $1,200 each year.

In the area of grants-in-aid, for the past several years the Alumni Association has also given at least $2,000 each year to the Athletic Department to be used for grants-in-aid.

And for the past three years the Alumni Association had an emergency loan fund ($300 revolving fund) in operation. After the second semester this amount will be increased and administered through the Dean of Student Personnel.

So between Scholarships, Grant-in-Aids, and loans, the Alumni Association provides between five and six thousand dollars of help to students. As income from our annual fund drive increases each year we offer more aid.

Warren O. Wittekind,
Alumni Director

Around Campus

Presently, there are nine instructors in this department teaching over seventy courses, either regularly or periodically.

Finances of the University are great, and, of course, other departments face equal problems.

Expansion isn't one of those problems that can be solved rapidly—it must be faced as it happens. But, at least, as Dr. Trickett says, “It's a pleasant problem.”

They Can't Stand To See It

The full-length feature “Mondo Cane” played to a no-standing-room-at-all audience Monday in the Conference Center Auditorium.

This striking film of contrasts and extremes focused its attentions on various cultures of the world, illustrating how these cultures fulfilled common needs and desires.

The film was sponsored by Alpha Kappa Delta, the national sociology honorary at OU.

Wrestlers Open Card Dec. 3 Against Concordia College

The Omaha U wrestlers will open their season Saturday, Dec. 3 against Concordia College.

"Concordia has a good team, with one NAIA District 11 champion returning. They also have a couple boys who placed second and third in that same tournament," said Coach Don Benning. "We are not taking Concordia lightly at all," he added.

The tentative lineup for the dual match list Curlee Alexander at 115 pounds, and Kinze Williams at 123 pounds. Phil Taylor, a freshman, will grapple at 130 pounds.

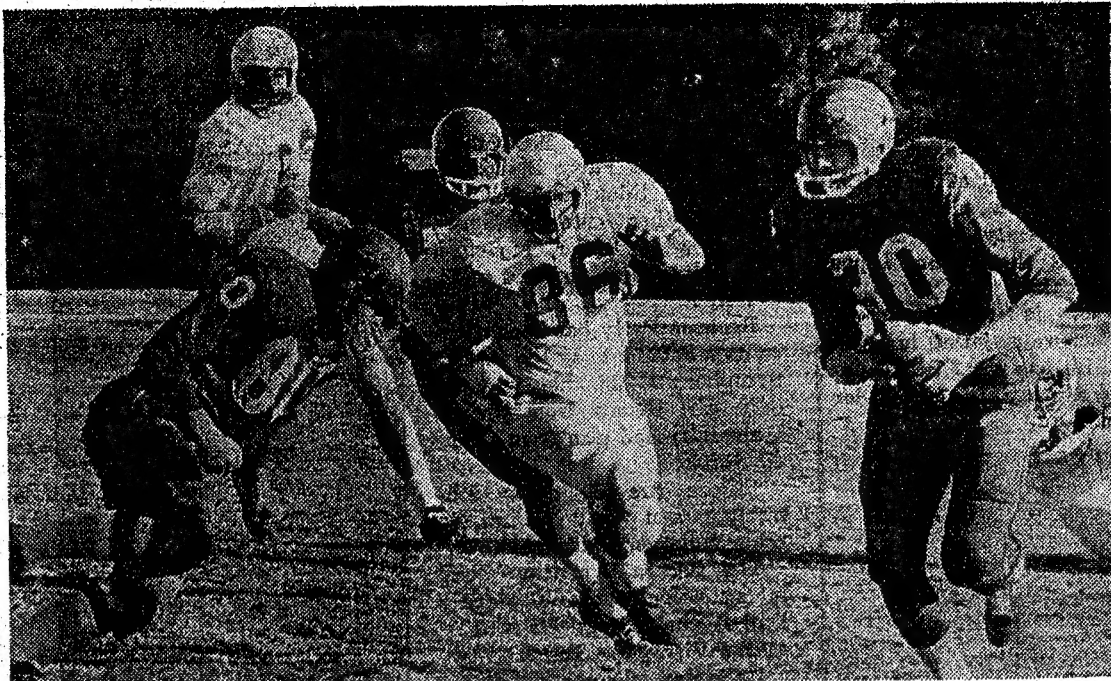

At 137 pounds Benning has Tom Murtaugh starting, but if Tom's injury is serious, Bob Mosely will fill in. Tom Ruffino, sophomore transfer, will start at 145 pounds, and another freshman, Roy Washington will be going at 152 pounds.

Reggie Williams, outstanding in past seasons and seeking his third varsity letter, faces a serious challenge from Wendell Hakason at 160 pounds. Nick Modrein will start at 167 pounds.

Jim Barrington, freshman from Omaha South, is being challenged by Terry Butkus at 177 pounds. Two-year letterman Tom Maides is the Indians' heavyweight.

"In general, the attitude of the squad is great. This is the hardest working, enthusiastic team I have ever worked with. The freshmen are looking good, but it is still too early to tell ability. Our goal is to definitely improve last years record," Benning concluded.

Indian Ken Pelan tries to head-off Bulldog Doug Kozel as Quarterback Bill Haas rolls out at 10-yard line.

OU Smashed In Final Tilt

The Drake Bulldogs chomped the injury-racked Indians, 53-to-0, to end the most dismal OU football season in the last seven years.

Three fumbles, two interceptions and 85 yards penalized at critical times blunted the already weak OU offense.

While the Indians had great difficulty moving the ball, the Bulldogs raced up and down the field to the tune of 422 rushing and 140 passing yards.

The total Drake offense of 562 yards tripled the Indian production of 186 yards. OU gained 178 of its yards the first half and had two first downs and a net gain of eight yards the second half.

OU's only scoring threat of the game ended in an interception in the Drake end zone with 1:02 remaining before the rest period. Duane was the culprit of the pass intended to converted split end Bill Haas.

The interception doomed once-victorious OU to its third scoreless game of the long, long season.

Ron Sayers contributed just over half of the Indians' total 53 rushing yardage by gaining 27 yards on nine attempts. Defensive stalwart Pat Smagacz added another 19 yards on five carries.

In the air game for OU, Haas completed eight of 15 passes for 104 yards, Ray Shaw, who had an active afternoon punting eight times for an average of 33 yards, completed six of 13 passes for 29 aerial yards.

Meanwhile, the 525 spectators (the poorest turnout during Caniglia's tenure as head coach) needed an adding machine to tally the efforts of the rapid-scoring Bulldogs; especially in the second quarter.

The second quarter, which seemed to last an hour rather than the actual 15 minutes, saw Drake swamp both OU and the scoreboard with 26 points. Twenty of those points were scored in a matter of several minutes.

Drake's Manley Sarnowsky broke a NCAA small-college pass record by receiving 11 passes to give him a total of 92 for the season.

Al Caniglia served two years as an assistant before becoming head coach in 1960. The Caniglia record:

1960 1 win, 7 losses, 1 tie
1961 6 wins, 3 losses
1962 8 wins*, 1 loss, 1 tie
1963 7 wins, 2 losses
1964 5 wins, 4 losses
1965 8 wins, 2 losses
1966 1 win, 9 losses

Canned Good—Fee For Tournament

Marcia Martin and Pongkaset "Pong" Suwannakon emerged the victors in last Thursday's WRA coed badminton tournament.

The dynamic duo of Sue Goepper and Gary Paporello were runnersup in the contest of 20 couples.

WRA awarded the top four with trophies.

The entrance "fee" for the tourney was a canned good, which will go to a needy family in the Omaha area. WRA President Kathy Fry said the Thanksgiving project is going well in collecting food.

WRA Table Tennis

WRA table tennis doubles begin next Monday.

All participating WRA members should register in the Women's P.E. Hut or at their sorority meetings.

Fort Hays' Recess At OU's Expense?

Why should a college who beats OU twice on the same day get an extra half-day of Thanksgiving vacation?

Maybe if the college won two athletic championships in one day for the first time in the school's history.

At least that's what the Fort Hays State student council and administration gave as the reason for not holding any classes today.

Two Saturdays ago, Fort Hays Tigers defeated OU 19-0 in football for a share in the CIC football crown and the cross country squad won its third-straight CIC crown.

Does the two defeats (among others) mean that OU students shouldn't have any Thanksgiving vacation at all?

Cross Country Meet Puts OU In Last Place

Frosh harrier Richard Carey ran four miles in 22:22 Saturday, but not fast enough to capture a medal.

Carey finished 12th out of 33 runners in the NAIA District 11 cross country championship. His time was just two seconds slower than the 10th place medal-winner.

As a team, the OU harriers came in last. Peru won the run with five harriers in the top 10 finishers and 25 points. Kearney, Doane and Wayne finished ahead of OU.

Midland failed to field a full team.

Other runners for OU were 24th-place Gordon Sweeney, 23:58; Larry Weller who came in 30th at 25:01 and James McMahon and Dave Oman who finished last (32nd and 33rd).

Wayne's A. D. Benson took individual honors with a 21:20 clocking for the 4-mile Elmwood course.

OU To Host NAIA CC Championships Saturday

Omaha University will host nearly 250 runners this Saturday for the Eleventh Annual NAIA Cross Country Championships.

Meet director Ernie Gorr explained that it is the largest national meet of its kind in the country. There is a NCAA Big College meet and a NCAA Small College meet, but neither attracts as many runners.

Last year's winner, Pat McMahon, a sophomore from Oklahoma Baptist University with a time of 20:38.5 is considered the major threat again this year.

Fort Hayes should not be overlooked. Their team won last year's meet and their top runner John Mason broke the cross country record with a 20:01.4 during the November 12th CIC Championships at OU. Mason only finished fifth in last year's meet. Ft. Hayes also had five runners in the top 25 places.

Jim Ewing, of Howard Payne, in Brownwood, Texas is also considered to be a major contender for top honors. He finished sixth with a 21:39 over the snow covered Elmwood Park course during the 1965 meet.

OU's Richard Carey hit his best time during the CIC Championship with a 22:11. This would have placed him 25th in the 1965 standings and he is not considered a major threat this year.

Fifty-nine schools around the country will be represented with runners. Thirty-three schools will provide teams of five to seven runners, while the other 26 only have individual runners.

When the gun sounds at 11 a.m., Saturday, the runners will be vying for the top 15 awards and medals will be given to the runners on the top three teams.

OU Holds Wrestling Clinic

The first University of Omaha wrestling clinic was held at OU last Saturday.

Participants in the event were 51 coaches and officials, and all of the Metropolitan League schools. Also all of the Omaha junior high school wrestling coaches attended.

The two primary objectives of the clinic were to expose the talents of the area's best coaches, and combine these talents in a way to benefit those attending. Secondly, the clinic was a good will gesture on the part of OU, giving the services of the University to the schools in the Omaha area.

Clinic Director Don Benning termed it very successful, and hopes for the continuation of the event.

They'll Have A Ball Saturday

By Chynne Koser

To look at Patty Blanchard, one would think that she was just another cute freshman. Patty is a slender, blue-eyed brownette with an excited smile. Why?

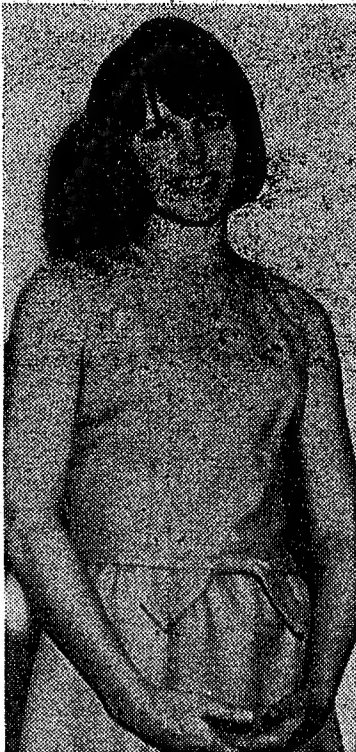

Because Patty has been chosen as a debutante by the Omaha Symphony Guild. She was the only girl chosen from Omaha University and also from Council Bluffs.

"There are 20 other debutantes and they all go to other colleges," Patty said.

The Omaha Symphony Guild is sponsoring the Debutante Ball — the first in this area — at the Blackstone Hotel.

"The Ball is November 26 and we only have one practice — the night before! We have to do the Viennese waltz with our fathers — and neither my Dad or I know how!" Patty said with a shrug. "But we'll manage!" she added with a smile.

Patty is in pre-nursing, WRA, and is a pledge of Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Bigger Budget - Book Buildup

The library has been allocated a $150,000 book budget this year, a 72 percent increase over last year, not including 5,000 books added during the summer.

Math students will be particularly pleased. A $7,200 collection of math journals have been donated by the National Science Foundation.

The handbook put out by the library received a major revision this year by renewing the pictures in it. Miss Lord, head librarian, said that, "while minor changes have been made over the years the pictures of the co-ed's dresses in the handbook dated back to ankle length."

Record Crowd Hops To Sound Of 'Happenings'

The largest crowd in Homecoming history turned out to dance to "The Happenings".

Homecoming dance chairman, Bev Grasso said 1,975 students were admitted to the dance with activities cards, while another 371 students paid admission.

Director of Student Activities, Fred Ray explained that Happenings only cost $1,500, which is $1,000 less than "The Association" was contracted for.

Ray said "The Association" bowed out of the Homecoming engagement to play on the network Andy William's Show. They have agreed to return to the university and play a two hour concert for breaking their contract.

In spite of comments of a "bad showing" by "The Happenings," Ray said he was pleased with the performance.

Angels' Flight Goes National

Heavens to Betsy! The Angels have gone National.

With their new status, Angel Flight members have donned new uniforms. The skirts are a-line, with short blazer jackets. The uniforms are a bright air force blue and rank is worn on the shoulder, instead of on the hat.

Angel Flight was founded in 1952 at OU and spread to other campuses. The Omaha chapter has grown from six founders to 50, presently enlisted.

Two representatives will be chosen to attend the first National convention in Florida during April.

According to Commander Anne Macloed, the new status will not seriously affect the Angels organization.

Never send a boy to do a man's work; send a woman.
